CONTESTANTS MUST SHOW THEIR FRIENDS

Those Who Wish to Win Out in the Finish Must Enlist the Aid of Their Acquaintances. Plenty of Time Yet to Enter the Big Race. Fine Chances for New Entrants in Each District.

This is "Easy Profit Week" in the Dispatch's Mammoth Contest for the ladies of the Northland. It is every candidate's opportunity to pile up her votes and win this handsome and valuable car. Don't tarry. Get busy today. Bring in your first book and get the 10,000 extra certificates that it entitles you to.

Show your friends that you mean business, that you intend to win and they will stand behind you.

Competition is getting keener and keener every day. Keep getting after the votes—gather them in and be prepared to stand off anyone who tries to ambush you.

Many changes have occurred in the list of contestants who are striving to win a share of the $2500 in prizes offered by the Dispatch.

A glance at the standing of the contestants will show who are out to win. It will also show the contestants who have merely been nominated by their friends and who are willing to have their friends do the work for them. Fate helps only those who help themselves. Those who did not wait for these friends to start them and got right out after the subscriptions are numbered among the leaders today.

Contestants—Let your friends see that you want to win by having your name in the paper with at least a thousand votes to your credit.

ARE YOU WORKING

Now what are you doing about the coupons? Is the three-vote coupon picked up yet or are you leaving it for some one else to gather. How many subscriptions have you looked up and how many subscriptions have you gotten in? Are you keeping up your end of the log or are you just doing the "grunting?" like the old man who said: "When I was a young man I used to get at the big end of the log and lift, but now that I am old I get at the small end and grunt."

Do not copy from this aged individual. There are too many like him in the world and they always bear the label stamped plainly on them. Everyone can read it by their appearance and it reads as follows: "HAS BEEN." Do not be a "Has Been." Put all your strength and courage into your work and with a long, sure stroke, with a long, strong pull, shove your boat ahead and win a prize. If you have not sent your name in yet there is plenty of time to get in the three-vote coupons. It is a long time yet until the 29th of June and a whole heap of work may be done between now and then. Send in your name and put in your best licks and win out.

WHICH ONE OF YOUR FRIENDS IS A CONTESTANT

Which one of your friends is a contestant in the Dispatch's Mammoth Prize Contest? Look over the list, one of them surely is. Be a

CAUSES DECLINE IN WHEAT PRICES

Announcement of Retirement of James A. Patten.

TAKES HIS LOSSES COOLLY

Chicago Speculator Said to Have Lost Anywhere Between Six Hundred Thousand and Twelve Hundred Thousand Dollars—Waterman Carries His Deal to Successful Conclusion.

Chicago, May 27.—The private settlement of Theodore H. Waterman's "squeeze" in May wheat, the unloading of 8,000,000 bushels of September wheat by James A. and George H. Patten and announcement of their withdrawal from the brokerage firm of which they have been members for a generation, and, at least temporarily, from business, caused a net decline in prices ranging from 4½ cents in September to more than 5 cents in May. Altogether the day in wheat was one destined to take rank with other momentous details of the history of the Chicago Board of Trade.

James A. Patten left his office at night wearing a smile and in his limousine had leisure to read headlines

The fine weather still prevails and for the first time in many years in the history of the Northland we are having a warm, balmy spring like that in Kentucky or Tennessee. The birds are coming northward; the fields are growing green; the trees are budding and the harbinger of spring, the robin, is singing from the tree tops.

With the coming of spring and warmer weather our thoughts naturally turn to outdoor pastimes and then, of all times, the desire to own an auto takes possession of the majority of us. How lovely it is to step into your machine and whirl away into the cool shady recesses of the forest and breathe the spicy incense of the pines and balsam.

There is no car so adapted for excursions and picnics of all kinds as the Model 10, Buick, "The Dispatch." It is staunch and reliable, can get over the worst of roads with an ease that is marvelous. One does not experience the jolts and bumps in making trips in out-of-the-way places that are made in other machines. It runs like a watch; a perfect piece of mechanism, yet so simple that a child can manipulate it as easily as an experienced machinist.

Good Samaritan and help that one. Give her your encouragement and your votes. Keep your coupons for her and pat her on the back, figuratively and enjoy the sensation of having done some one good in the world and having helped a friend.

How many fail in this world for the want of a little kindly sympathy from others. A kind word of encouragement is worth ten times its weight in gold.

Bear this in mind and send in your subscription for your favorite candidate and feel the glow of satisfaction which always accompanies a good deed.

FINE OPPORTUNITY IN DISTRICT FIVE

There is a fine opportunity awaiting some lady in District Five to enter the race and win one of the prizes offered. Ladies of District Five, are you aware of this? This is a double opportunity for you because you can enter the race today and get almost double the votes you could if you entered a week ago during the coming week. This is your chance to enter and pile up the votes that will win one of the many prizes offered in this contest.

estimating his losses at anywhere between $640,000 to $1,200,000 for the day.

Asked by a reporter if he had anything to say about the market the big speculator laughed and said: "Just say I don't know anything about the market."

In his jovial manner Mr. Patten admitted that he had come out second best in a guessing contest with the bears.

"Not many men could take it like that," remarked an admiring junior partner of the firm as its most picturesque member left the office for his automobile.

Status Not Understood.

The status of neither the May nor the September options, despite developments, is understood with certainty. As to Patten, it is not known whether he and his brother George have disposed of all of their September holdings, or still have considerable amount awaiting a possible steadier market. While their retirement was announced, it is remembered that it does not become effective until July 1. Certain traders with reputations for shrewdness profess the belief that the market will be called upon to absorb more long September wheat during the next month. The same question arises as to the May option—has it all been settled for?

Traders are assured that Theodore H. Waterman, the Albany miller, the leading long in May, has carried his deal through to a successful conclusion, and forced the leading short interest to settle with him at his own price, generally believed to have been around $1.14. Any effort to gage his profits, however, is futile. A. J. Lichstein is said to have been the leading short in this option.

GOVERNOR DENEEN.

Arrested for Exceeding Automobile Speed Limit.

FOR EXCEEDING SPEED LIMIT

Governor Deneen of Illinois Placed Under Arrest.

Peoria, Ill., May 27.—Governor Charles S. Deneen was arrested with a touring car party for exceeding the speed limit in this city. Charles H. May, publisher of the Herald-Transcript, host of the party, was released under bond.

The governor will not have to appear at the hearing.

JUSTICE MOODY MAY RETIRE

Reports Circulated in Washington That He Will Quit.

Washington, May 27.—Reports are being circulated in Washington to the effect that Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Moody, who has been ill for the past six months, will retire from the bench.

SUBMARINE SINKS WITH ALL ON BOARD

Rammed By Ferry Boat in the English Channel.

London, May 27.—A telegram received at the admiralty says that a French submarine was rammed and sunk in the English channel by a mail boat running between Calais and Dover. All on board were drowned.

The name of the foundered submarine was Pluviose. Her crew numbered twenty-three men, all of whom were lost.

The submarine was sunk by the Calais-Dover ferryboat Pas de Calais two miles northwest of Calais.

The Pluviose sank in 160 feet of water.

The crew had no chance for escape, as their craft plunged to the bottom in the moment of collision.

The submarine was of the Laubeuf type. Her length was 160 feet and her displacement was 398 tons.

FARMER BURNED TO DEATH

Another Man Barely Escapes the Same Fate.

Grand Forks, May 27.—Sensational in the extreme was the rescue of Joseph Hennessey from the burning Sudan livery barn at Conway when C. H. Philstrom fought his way through the darkness and dense smoke to the unconscious form of the young man, whom he dragged from the building through the flames.

Gilbert Landrum, a prominent farmer residing near Inkster, was burned to death. He was lying only two or three feet from Hennessey when Philstrom invaded the structure. Landrum's presence in the building was not known until two hours afterwards, when the charred remains were discovered.

In addition to the one fatality, eleven horses were cremated.

Found Guilty of Murder.

Minneapolis, May 27.—Mike Vivo was found guilty of murder in the third degree by a jury, after deliberating three hours. The verdict was reported to Judge John Day Smith, before whom Vivo was tried on the charge of murdering Nels Monson by shooting him April 23 in a saloon brawl.

Tries to End His Life.

Duluth, May 27.—John Murray, forty-seven years old, tried to take his own life by slashing his throat with a razor in a fit of despondency over the loss of his position as brakeman for the Duluth, Missabe and Northern railway. He was found in a pool of his own blood in a woodshed at the rear of his rooming house at Proctor. The open razor was found at his side. He will recover.

Two Killed by Train.

Ottumwa, Ia., May 27.—While watching a freight train approaching from one direction James Coverdale and Frank Rhodes, two track men on the Burlington, were struck by a passenger train coming from the opposite direction and instantly killed.

LAWYERS MAKE A BITTER FIGHT

Vainly Try to Bar Letters From Court Record.

WRITTEN BY CHARLES R. HEIKE

Communications From the Secretary and Treasurer of the American Sugar Refining Company to Subordinates Mention Liberal Weights the Alleged Trust Received From the Customs House.

New York, May 27.—Charles R. Heike heard Henry L. Stimson, for the government, slowly read letters in which Heike spoke of the "liberal weights we received from the customs house." As secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining Company, the so called sugar trust, Heike is charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of customs dues on imports of raw sugar. Five subordinates are being tried with him, and the prosecution has been endeavoring to prove that he, although an executive, was cognizant of and instrumental in cheating at the trick scales.

Counsel for Heike fought bitterly to bar the letters, but Judge Martin overruled the objections, and they became part of the record. The first was dated Dec. 24, 1904, and addressed to Frank G. Turner, superintendent of the South Boston refinery. It read in part:

"I spoke to Mr. Thomas (Washington B. Thomas, president of the American Sugar Refining company) the other day in reference to a change we wish to make in your melting account in order to have it conform with the melting account of the other refineries. I made a change in New York several years ago, when we found that cargoes of sugar melted at our refineries showed larger losses in weight than it was reasonable to expect. That the difference was not due to the actual losses was shown by the technical statements, which frequently gave larger gains in the percentages of crystallizable sugar.

"These differences are due to two causes. First, the desire of the superintendents to make as good a showing of their working as possible; second, by the liberal weights and tares which we receive from the customs house, and which, of course, we do not undertake to correct. These customs house weights are generally taken as a basis for the meltings. To charge the meltings on the proper basis, we have adopted the following system:

Two Sets Not Desirable.

Here the system of charges is outlined and the letter goes on: "I make these changes in the office in New York and I do not alter the accounts at the refinery, as it does not seem to me desirable that there should be two sets of weights on the books of the refinery. One set, for instance, representing the customs house weight on which duty is paid, and another set representing melting weights, giving a larger number of pounds. It will be most convenient for you after your statement of raw sugar melted has been completed to add these differences to each lot. The correction of the technical statement I shall make here in New York."

The foregoing was introduced unexpectedly by the government and was read from Heike's private letter box, which was identified in court by William Foster, auditor in the company's Wall street office.

This was quickly followed by another letter written by Heike in 1897 to Ernest W. Gerbracht, former superintendent of the Williamsburg (Brooklyn) refinery. Gerbracht is one of the defendants. The communication was mildly chiding in tone, upbraiding Gerbracht for not having shown certain weight books as requested by a clerk of the insurance inspectors.

"As there were no duties on these sugars," wrote Heike, "there could be no comparison with the customs house weights."

Editors to Visit Battlefield.

Walker, Minn., May 27.—The North-Central Minnesota Editorial Association's annual meeting will be held at P. H. McGarry's summer resort at Leech Lake this year. The dates set for the meeting are June 3, 4 and 5. Sunday will be spent in boat excursions to historical points on Leech lake. The editorial party will stop at Bear Island and will be shown over the famous Sugar Point battlefield, where Major Wilkinson and several United States soldiers were killed in a battle with Bear Island Indians in 1898.

Banker's Auto Kills Child.

Centerville, Ia., May 27.—Little seven-year-old Robert Findlay, a blacksmith's son, was run down and killed at Centerville by a heavy touring car driven by fifteen-year-old Lazelle Sawyer, son of the president of the Centerville National bank.

Farmer Fatally Injured on Windmill.

Morris, Minn., May 27.—John Pusch, a farmer, climbed to the top of his windmill to adjust it and was struck by a falling timber that became dislodged from the framework. He died after a few hours of intense suffering.

STARTS ON LONG WALK.

ENNIS OFF ON A LONG HIKE

Pedestrian Making Good Time on Walk to Frisco.

New York, May 27.—John Ennis, a tall Irishman from County Longford and who lives in Stamford, Conn., started to cut down Weston's record of 105 days from coast to coast on Shank's mare. Ennis is a pedestrian. He got away from the city hall while 5,000 persons looked on. He carried with him letters from Mayor Gaynor to the mayors of Chicago and San Francisco.

Ennis will be well on his journey, he hopes, when his sixty-eighth birthday arrives, on June 4. He is three years younger than Weston. He asserts that the distance he will have to cover to San Francisco is 4,300 miles, while the distance between this city and Los Angeles by the Weston route is 3,500 miles.

After a demonstration in Ossining, N. Y., the pedestrian resumed his tramp.

MORE SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY GIVEN

Alaskans Testify Before Senate Subcommittee.

Washington, May 27.—Sensational testimony in connection with the Alaskan political situation was again given before the sub-committee of the senate committee on judiciary, which is investigating protests against the appointment of John Rustgard to succeed John J. Boyce as United States district attorney and Herbert L. Faulkner to succeed Daniel Sutherland as United States marshal, both in division No. 1, Alaska.

Delegate Wickersham completed his statement charging that the new appointees were subversive to the Guggenheim interests. Boyce and Sutherland were heard. They protested that they were removed at the instigation of a political clique represented by Louis Shackelford, Republican national committeeman for Alaska, former Governor W. B. Hoggatt and Governor Walter E. Clark.

The dismissed officers asserted their removal was based upon prosecutions by them of people associated with the Guggenheim faction and that the men appointed to succeed them were taken from that clique. They said that the man who defended Ed Hassey on a charge of shooting men who were trying to take from the Guggenheim people their hold on Keystone pass later was appointed United States judge. They said he had been in the law firm of Louis Shackelford and that Rustgard was a member of the same firm. These statements were made in support of a claim that this faction was endeavoring to gain absolute control of the courts and prosecuting attorneys.

Mr. Shackelford, in defense, said that Sutherland, the deposed marshal, was a member of the Western Federation of Miners.

Mr. Shackelford claimed that Sutherland had paid the fare of a man named Brennan from Seattle to Juneau and that this man was active in the federation. Mr. Sutherland presented evidence to show that the Brennan whose fare he paid was not the Brennan who was identified with the Western Federation.

Bill Now Goes to President.

Washington, May 27.—The house and senate having agreed on the Hanna bill, opening to settlement 400,000 acres of land in the Fort Berthold Indian reservation in North Dakota, the measure now goes to the president for approval. Under the terms of the bill filices on this land are to be made at land offices. The Sabath amendment on filices to be made in any federal court was stricken out in conference.

Accident Insurance Solicitor Hurt.

Washington, May 27.—J. E. Griffith, agent for the Des Moines Great Western Accident Insurance company, was blown twenty feet and made unconscious by an explosion of a peanut roasting machine while he was talking accident insurance to F. M. Kelly, owner of the machine. Griffith was badly burned and bruised, but will recover.

REMARKS ANGER THE DEMOCRATES

CITY WINS LEGAL BATTLE

Telephone Company Must Pay Percentage of Gross Receipts.

Pierre, S. D., May 27.—The supreme court has upheld the contention of the city of Mitchell for a share of the gross receipts of the Dakota Central Telephone company in that city.

It appears from the record that the city granted a franchise to a telephone company with a provision that the city was to receive annually 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the company after such receipts reached $2,400 a year. The old company sold to the Dakota Central and a new ordinance was passed which extended the rights of the company so far as long distance wire to the city were concerned.

The Dakota Central declined to pay the 10 per cent of gross receipts as provided in the original ordinance and the city brought suit for $1,731.77. The lower court held against the city and on appeal to the supreme court the findings of the lower court have been reversed and that court is ordered to enter judgment in the amount asked.

DEFEATED IN THE SENATE

Cummins Amendment to Railroad Bill Voted Down.

Washington, May 27.—The Cummins amendment to the railroad bill prohibiting the increasing of rates by railroads until they have been declared by the interstate commerce commission to be just and reasonable, was defeated by the senate by a vote of 29 to 43.

Resuming his speech in opposition to the railroad bill soon after the senate convened Senator La Follette undertook to prove that instead of rates advancing, all economic conditions demanded that they should have been materially lowered during the past few years.

In support of this contention he cited the density of traffic, the short average length of haul and the efficiency of transportation facilities, all of which, he said, had been vastly increased.

Arrested for Selling Cigarettes.

Green Bay Wis., May 27.—Edward McNeveins and Harry Romaine, managers of cigar stores, and Carl Baerman and Carl Bauer, saloon keepers, were arrested for selling cigarettes and cigarette papers. They pleaded not guilty and have engaged an attorney to fight the case.

DISCUSSES CRIMINAL LAWS

Arkansas Says Laxness is a National Disgrace.

St. Paul, May 27.—The afternoon session of the annual meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General, in the senate chamber of the new capitol, was occupied chiefly with a general discussion based on an interesting address by Hal L. Norwood, attorney general of Arkansas, in which he said this country's laxness in the administration of criminal laws is a worldwide disgrace.

Mr. Norwood's talk dealt with the authority of the attorney general to represent the state and the elimination of special counsel. He quoted from opinions of several state supreme courts to prove that the authority of the attorney general is co-extensive with his duties and that if it is his duty under the common law to represent the state his authority to direct and control such litigation is implied.

By far the most interesting part of the address dealt with criminal law and Mr. Norwood threw many interesting sidelights on the prosecution and enforcement of that branch of jurisprudence, which were later discussed in open meeting.

The convention opened with an address of welcome by Attorney General Simpson of Minnesota and the annual address of the president. The two occupied the brief hour of the morning session.

In the afternoon the delegates were taken in automobiles for a tour of the city, going from the capitol by way of Minnehaha falls and Fort Snelling, to the Town and Country club, where an informal dinner was served and where the visitors spent the evening.

Tawney Makes Himself Unpopular With Them.

DEBATE ON A SMALL ITEM

As Torrid as It Was Possible to Be

Within the Parliamentary Limit of Expression—Minnesota Casts Reflections Upon Southern Hospitality and Says One of Taft's Hosts in the South Charged Him Board.

Washington, May 27.—Chairman Tawney of the house appropriations committee made himself and President Taft extremely unpopular during debate on the item of $25,000 for traveling expenses of the president, "to be immediately available." As a result of Mr. Tawney's reflections upon Southern hospitality, his charge that one of the president's hosts in the South charged him board and of the fact that he read a list furnished by the White House, containing the names of Southern members of the house who had accepted the president's hospitality on his trip and who opposed the "immediately available" portion of the traveling expense budget, the Democratic side of the house is red hot and Mr. Tawney's colleagues are wondering how he happened to misplace his ordinarily excellent judgment. The debate on this small item was as torrid as it was possible to be within the parliamentary limits of expression.

Everything started smoothly enough when Representative Macon of Arkansas mildly made a point of order against the traveling expense item. Mr. Tawney, too, began his reply and explanation quietly enough, but he warmed up so rapidly that before long Representative Bartlett of Georgia, who was Mr. Taft's host at his home in Macon during the president's Southern trip, and half a dozen other Democrats were on their feet trying to interrupt him.

"After the president has accepted the invitation of members of this house to visit their states," said Mr. Tawney bitterly, "and has accepted that invitation, knowing full well the expense, and while then on that trip accepted this hospitality, they turn around here now and criticize the president for accepting their invitation." Mr. Bartlett bounced out of his seat as if he had received an electric shock and demanded that Mr. Tawney yield the floor. Mr. Tawney declined.

Now Criticize the President.

"I don't blame you," cried Mr. Bartlett excitedly. "I wouldn't either if I were in your place." "Twenty-five Democratic representatives," continued Mr. Tawney, "called at the White House and extended to the president the hospitality of their districts, urging and begging him to accept their invitations, which he did. And when he makes the appropriation to defray the expenses incident to accepting their invitations they now criticize him. Is that Southern hospitality? Can there be a meaner man than he who invited another man to accept his hospitality and then when that man becomes his guest turns around and kicks him because he accepted the invitation, criticizing him and even charging him for his board?"

"Where was he charged board?" demanded Mr. Bartlett.

"In Georgia, I think," replied Mr. Tawney blandly.

"That is not true," yelled Mr. Bartlett, shaking his fist. "That is absolutely false."

"Well," said Mr. Tawney, "I can cite an instance where you were the guest of the president on this present trip."

"Wonder if he bought his own meal ticket?" interjected Representative Hamer of Idaho.

"I did," cried Mr. Bartlett, "and paid my own fare."

"But you didn't pay your own board," suggested Representative Shaw of Nebraska.

"Yes, I did," shouted Mr. Bartlett. "And paid out a large amount of money to defray my own expenses."

Reading from his White House list Mr. Tawney mentioned that Representatives Taylor of Colorado and Bartlett and Hardwick of Georgia had been the president's guests on his private car during the trip in question. Representative Fitzgerald of New York suggested it was extremely remarkable that Mr. Tawney had been able to secure from the White House a list of the Democrats who, at the behest of the people in their district, had urged the president to visit various sections of the country. Just about this time Representative Hardwick of Georgia, who had been out of the chamber, came back on the floor and was informed by some of his colleagues that Mr. Tawney had dragged his name into the debate on this item in no very complimentary way. He rushed down to the stenographer's room, where he read the typewritten report of Mr. Tawney's remarks. When he got back on the floor he was ripping mad. "Mr. Tawney," he said, "says it is the meanest thing a man can do to invite the president to his district as his guest and then turn around and criticize the appropriation to pay his expenses. The gentleman from Minnesota forgot his manners entirely when making that statement."

ALUMNI BANQUET

Banquet Will be Given at Ransford
Hotel on the Evening of June 8th

A reorganization of the alumni of the Brainerd high school has been gradually brought about through the efforts of Supt. W. C. Cobb. The committee on constitution and by-laws will make a report when they meet at the high school on Tuesday, May 31st. The election of officers will occur at the time provided for in the by-laws.

There are about 90 resident alumni. The total alumni number is over 200. The banquet in honor of the graduating class will be given at the Ransford hotel on Wednesday evening, June 8th, following the commencement exercises. There will be present the alumni, the graduating class, invited friends and the faculty. Toasts will be given, short addresses made and musical selections rendered by the alumni. The event will be of great interest as it is the first banquet given since 1902.

On the program committee are C.
A. Albright, Eloise Smith and W. C.
Cobb. The banquet committee includes G. S. Swanson, Clara M.

MEMORIAL TO AMERICAN HEROES

Patriotic Women Give English Church Stained Glass Window.

IN HONOR OF 1812 PRISONERS

Gift of Daughters of 1812 to Be Unveiled in Ancient Edifice at Dartmouth—Society Took Up Plan Broached by Rector of the Church.

In the obscure little Church of St. Michael's, at Dartmouth, England, on June 4 will take place a unique ceremony which will be of international interest. At this time a large stained glass window, dedicated to the memory of American prisoners of the war of 1812 who were detained in the Dartmouth prison and helped to build St. Michael's church, will be unveiled. The window will be the gift of the National Society of the United States Daughters of 1812 and will be unveiled by Mrs. William G. Slade of New York, the society's national president.

Many memorials have been erected by patriotic societies of women anxious to perpetuate the memory of American soldiers and sailors who have died in the service of their country, but none is more expressive of devotion to the nation's heroes than this token which is to be placed in a foreign land.

Helped Build the Church.

The suggestion of a memorial to the American men who were captured by the English during the war of 1812 and detained at Dartmouth, where many of them died and were buried, was made by the Rev. Heathcote Smith, rector of St. Michael's church, in an article which appeared June 7, 1908. In this the rector of the church appealed to the American people to honor the American sailor prisoners who helped to build the church.

The New York State Society of the National Daughters of 1812 took up the matter and after corresponding with the rector presented the subject to the national board for consideration. The plan met with approval, and on Jan. 8, 1909, the board appointed a national memorial committee, with Mrs. C. B. Whitney of Detroit as chairman.

A design for a stained glass window was presented to the committee by a Berlin, London and New York firm and was accepted. The window is composed of six main panels, each representing a scene in the life of Christ. The coloring is rich and harmonious, and the scenes speak the lesson of brotherly love and forgiveness which the presentation of the window by American women to an English church strikingly illustrates. The inscription, approved by the English authorities and the American memorial committee, reads:

To the glory of God and in memory of the American prisoners of the war of 1812 who were detained in the Dartmouth prison between 1813 and 1815 and who helped to build the church, this east window is presented by the National Society of the United States Daughters of 1812.

The cost of making the window, shipping and setting it in place will be $1,250.

Suffered Many Hardships.

During the war of 1812 about 3,000 Americans were held as prisoners of war at Dartmouth, and it is said the men suffered many hardships on account of the cold, which was extreme on this bare and rocky shore. Many died, and although the bodies of some were brought home and laid to rest in American soil, there are still about 218 American seamen buried in the churchyard of St. Michael's. The church was built at the time the Americans were detained, and their labor assisted materially in its erection. Recently the chapel, which had fallen into a state of decay, was restored, and it was at the time of its restoration that the rector made his appeal to Americans.

The annual congress of the National Society of Daughters of 1812 was held in Washington April 25 to 28, when arrangements for the unveiling ceremony were perfected.

The National Society of the Daughters of 1812 has for its object the commemoration of the period of American history between 1784 and 1815. It takes up the work of honoring the national heroes where the Daughters of the American Revolution leave off. The Dartmouth memorial window will be the most notable monument yet erected by the organization.

CHILDREN TO FEED BUGS.

New Feature Added to Chicago Public School Department.

Kittens, puppies, chickens, pigeons, rabbits, squirrels, guinea pigs, Japanese mice, white rats, tadpoles, frogs, birds, bugs and bees are some of the new pupils that a committee of principals and district superintendents appointed by Superintendent Ella Flagg Young has decided to admit to the Chicago public schools.

The school authorities have decided to give the youngsters in the kindergarten grades this strange conglomeration of school companions. They want to inculcate in the children a taste for nature study, and they believe this the best way to do it.

In a higher grade of the kindergarten work the children will take up the feeding of caterpillars and the study of the habits of crickets and spiders.

His Leading Lady.

Two men of West Philadelphia were exchanging greetings the other day when one of them exclaimed:

"Why, Edward, old chap, you're in fine trim! You're positively beaming! I've never seen you look so satisfied with yourself and with the world. Any particular reason?"

"Yes," answered Edward. "The fact is, I've just succeeded in signing up our leading lady for another season."

"No am I. I am referring to our cook,"—Lippincott's.

NO LIFE OF EASE FOR BUFFALO BILL

Famous Scout to Be In the Saddle More Than Ever.

GLORIES IN THE GREAT WEST

But It's No Longer Wild, He Says In His Farewell Message—The Indian, He Asserts, Is Laying Down the Bow and Arrow and Taking Up the Rake.

At the end of this season's tour of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), the famous scout and showman, will retire to his ranch at Cody, Wyo., and divide his time thereafter between the ranges and his mining property in Arizona.

Just before he waved his last farewell with his broad brimmed hat to New York at Madison Square Garden he was interviewed by Charles Darrington for the New York Evening World. When asked whether he would leave the saddle for the rocking chair Colonel Cody pulled up abruptly with this answer:

Will Hike to the Rockies.

"No, sir! No one will ever find me in a rocking chair. As a matter of fact, I'll be in the saddle during the rest of my days more than I am now in this business. I'm not going to settle down and sit in a corner. Any one that comes out west looking for me will be pretty apt to find me on the back of a horse. I couldn't lead anything but an active life. I never hang around a city when I'm through with my season. I hike for the Rockies and go shooting and hunting. That's the life for me."

Although the colonel refused to say he was tired of life in the arena, he shot this question at me:

"Do you think a man can run on in this business for 300 or 400 years? Now, I've been a pretty steady man in my public career. It began in 1872 at Niblo's Garden, when I appeared in 'The Scouts of the Plains,' not counting the years that I was before the public in a way as a real scout. Then in 1883 I organized 'The Wild West,' and I've been keeping it up ever since. When a man has a million dollars' worth of property around him and horses eating their heads off he's got to keep it up, I can tell you! And two shows a day are harder on a man than a long dash across the plains. But the excitement of it all has kept me up."

COLONEL WILLIAM F. CODY (BUFFALO BILL).

["No rocking chair for mine."]

"There's no more wild west. The last of it went when I settled up the Big Horn basin, the metropolis of which, you know, is named after me. A lot of people here in the east think the west is fit only for coyotes and rattlesnakes, but one of these days they'll realize that it is the richest part of this whole country. The brainiest men of the country come from the west. We raise the healthiest and brainiest children on the face of the earth, and they broaden with nature. What chance does a person have to broaden in a city, with its narrow streets and brick walls? You have to go west to find room in which to do that. Why, out there you throw out your arms and holler! You feel so good you just have to holler. You're glad you're alive, and you're thanking God that you're in a healthy country."

"But, holler as you may, it is no longer the wild west?"

Indian Turning to the Plow.

"No," said the colonel slowly. "That has practically passed away. I am the only man living who actually represents that life, who has really lived it. But it was not to kill Indians that I became a part of it. I stood between civilization and savagery. Today the Indian is laying down the bow and arrow and picking up the rake. He is turning his hand from the hunting knife to the plow. It is hard for him to give up the chase and dig his living out of the ground, but he is gradually becoming a farmer."

"But I do not intend to hunt all the time. In fact, I'll have enough work to keep me busy. I have got a lot of mining property to look after, and any one who comes out looking for me will find me in Nebraska, Wyoming or Arizona. They'll find me almost anywhere except in a rocking chair. I may come east for a visit occasionally, but this is my farewell appearance so far as the wild west show is concerned. And now I want to take off my hat to the public. It's been very kind to me. I guess that's about all I've got to say—just 'Thank you and goodbye.'"

Capital Prize

The $500.00 Style S, Stone Piano which is the capital prize of this contest was purchased from the Stone Piano Company of Fargo, N. D. This instrument is manufactured especially for them by the Bush & Gerts Piano Company of Chicago, one of the largest piano manufacturers in the world.

This piano has a rich massive perfectly proportioned art case; that is a combination of the Puritan and Colonial models that have taken the people of this day and age by storm. Tone, which is the soul of every piano, produced in the Stone piano is perfect.

It is after years of persistent, scientific investigation and experiment of acoustics by renowned experts that this instrument has been brought to a perfection that all other pianos are judged by. Its notes are a revelation to the musically cultured of the most critical musician.

This magnificent piano is in the city and is on display in the store room of The Dispatch Building.

FRICITION.

What Causes It and What Would Happen Without It.

What is friction really caused by? Why will two things in contact not slip over each other easily? It is because every substance known to science has teeth; microscopic, it is true, but still teeth. The result, then, is obvious. If we shove a book across a table the teeth of the book interlock with the teeth of the table just as cog-wheels do, and the push has to be strong enough either to bend them enough or to break them off for the motion to continue.

It has actually been observed in a microscope that if the push is only a short distance, on the pressure of the hand being removed the book actually jumps back to its former position. This action is a slight bending of the two sets of teeth, only not far enough for them to lose their relative positions, and their elasticity on being released makes the book fly back.

It has been shown that this friction is not so much between different bodies as between bodies of the same material. One industrial application of this is the bearings for steel axles. They are made of brass instead of steel.

In some things we want as much friction as possible and in others as little. The former is illustrated in the friction between an engine wheel and the track, and sometimes being poured on the track to increase the friction. The latter case is illustrated in all bearings where rotating metal is in contact with stationary metal, sometimes ball bearings being substituted, thus lessening the friction.

Many peculiar things would happen if there was no friction. All screws in wood would immediately twist back ward rapidly and shoot out into the air; trains could not run save on clogged rails, which would probably be necessary above as well as below, thus having four rails instead of two; buildings would tumble down, and new ones could not be built unless molded in place like Edison's or else riveted together. People would have to wear shoes with long spikes in them and then have to be careful, for dirt grains would slip over one another easily and would act like deep sand. But one great thing would happen—machines would run at 100 per cent efficiency, would give out as much energy as was put into them.—Lawrence Hodges in New York Tribune.

Dr. Eliot's Religion.

Whoever wrongs another in thought or in act thereby wrongs himself even more, for he robs himself of his own peace of mind. When he wrongs a fellow being he wrongs God; when he hates a fellow being he hates God. No form or amount of profession or prayer can then restore happiness to his mind until he has righted the wrong and in that way shown the only repentance that God will recognize. And, conversely, whoever serves a fellow being thereby serves God in the only way it is possible.

TOWER OF LONDON.

The Picturesque Old Structure on the Banks of the Thames.

The Tower of London is one of the most picturesque places in all England. It is located on the north bank of the Thames and just east of the business district of London. It occupies about twelve acres and is surrounded by a broad and shallow moat.

In feudal days it was one of the strongest fortresses in the country and was deemed impregnable. It is now a government storehouse and armory and, above all, one of the sights of London.

The moat, which, with the battlements and towers, makes the stone structure such a hoary antiquity, is bordered within by a lofty castellated wall. At frequent intervals of this part of the structure there are massive flanking towers.

Within this wall rises another of similar construction, but of greater height. Here are the various barracks and armories. In the center of all is the lofty keep or donjon known as the White tower. This was erected in the days of William the Conqueror and contains one of the most charming little chapels of Norman design which have remained till the present day.

Nearby is the horse armory, containing a truly wonderful collection of ancient and mediæval arms and armor. In the court just beyond is a slab marking the spot where Anne Boleyn, wife of Henry VIII., was beheaded. Similar fates befell many other famous personages in English history within the great walls of the Tower of London.—Boston Herald.

A Shocking Question.

Three Paint Essentials

THE three necessary essentials for right painting are pure white lead ("Dutch Boy Painter" trademark)—pure linseed oil—and a painter who knows his business.

When you get these three busy around your place, you can be sure your property will be painted right.

Pure white lead, pure linseed oil, and a painter who knows how to use them, form a combination that is bound to reflect credit upon your property and upon you as the owner. You will get a better painting job, and one that will last longest. As this has been proved by years of experience, white lead ("Dutch Boy Painter" trademark) is and has been for a long time the standard paint.

Remember, because you use pure white lead, it is not necessary to paint only white. With pure white lead, and pure linseed oil, your painter can make any color, shade or tint you want—and he mixes it at the time of painting.

Our books on decoration go into the subject in detail. Ask for "Dutch Boy Painter" No. 61. Free.

THE TERRIBLE BATHOLITE.

Molten Rock That Bores Upward Through the Earth's Crust.

Batholite is a term invented by the great German geologist Eduard Suess to describe the gigantic intrusions of molten rock which, according to him, bore their way upward through the crust of the earth from the "eternal depths" below, cutting through the strata and folds of the mountains very much as a white hot soldering iron may be thrust through a plank, burning its way across the grain of the wood as if it were cheese.

These batholites lurk deep in the earth, where the temperature is thousands of degrees, and gradually melt their way to the surface above them. Generally they issue in the form of tremendous domes of hot rock, towering up to mountain heights and often giving birth to volcanoes. When a batholite, as sometimes happens, does not reach the surface its roof opens in a network of fissures, lava pours out and a whole group of volcanoes appears at that point.

Suess has recognized the remains of many cooled batholites on various parts of the earth's surface, and he says that the consolidated crust of the earth, even at the present day, may be exposed to these mighty intrusions from below. The batholites bring up with them many metals from the interior of the planet, and rich mines are often opened in the dikes that are thus formed.

Suess describes the rock about Boulder, Colo., as an ancient batholite, which covers 5,000 square kilometers of surface. But there are others still more prodigious in extent.

Sometimes they have been worn down nearly to the general level, but near Elkhorn the old batholite yet towers up to an elevation of 9,000 feet above the sea. The diamond dikes of South Africa have thus been thrust up from the profound depths of the earth, where there exists a laboratory of nature in which she performs what seem miracles to the petty inhabitants of the planet's surface.

The face of the moon shows us most clearly what batholites are capable of. The vast circular plains ringed with steep mountains, which make its surface so marvelous to look upon with a telescope, have, according to this view, been formed by intrusions of colossal batholites, and Suess calls them by the startling name of "smelting furnaces"—furnaces thousands of square miles in extent—in which the frame of that little world has been melted and dissolved like a snow bank lying in the path of a flow of molten iron.

And if we could remove the sedimentary accumulations of ages from the face of our world, says this astonishing German savant, we might find now hidden under our feet a network of the seared skeletons of ancient batholites, grander than any on the moon!—Garrett P. Serviss in New York American.

HARDSHIPS OF A NORTH POLE TRIP

Commander Peary Tells What Traveling Over the Icy Wastes Means.

Battling With the Intense Cold and Facing Perils From Open Leads.

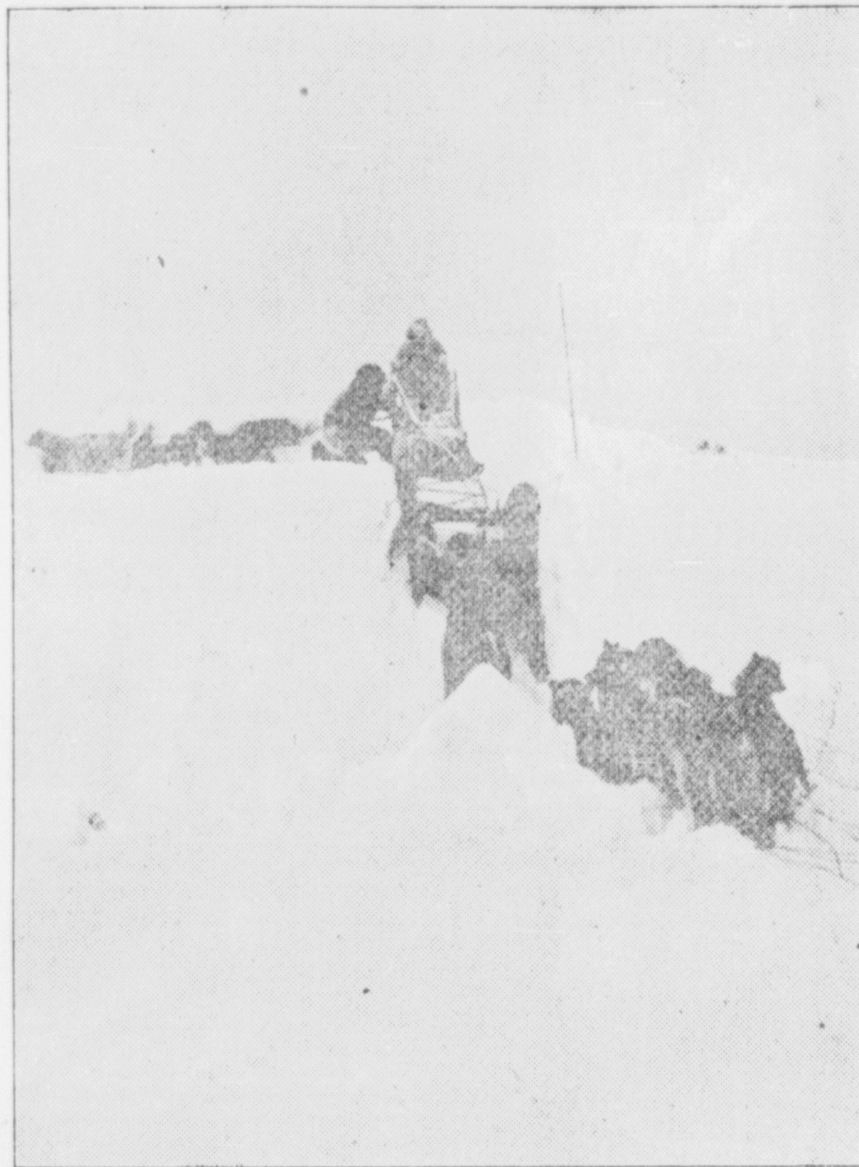

THE difficulties and hardships of a journey to the north pole are too complex to be summed up in a paragraph," says Commander Robert E. Peary in his story of the "Discovery of the North Pole" in the June Hampton's Magazine. "But, briefly stated, the worst of them are: The ragged and mountainous ice over which we must travel with our heavily loaded sledges; the often terrific wind, having the impact of a wall of water, which we must march against at times; the open leads, which we must cross and recross somehow; the intense cold, sometimes as low as 60 degrees below zero, through which we must—by fur clothing and constant activity—keep our how welcome was the warm fireside of home at the end of their journey. But let them imagine tramping through such a storm all day long, over jagged and uneven ice, with the temperature between 15 degrees and 30 degrees below zero and no shelter to look forward to at the end of the day's march except a narrow and cold snow house which they would themselves be obliged to build in that very storm before they could eat or rest.

Sleeping on the Polar Sea.

"A lead might open right through our camp or through one of the snow igloos when we are sleeping on the surface of the polar sea.

"Should the ice open across the bed platform of an igloo and precipitate flesh from freezing; the difficulty of dragging out and back over the ragged and "lead" broken trail enough pemmican, biscuit, tea, condensed milk and liquid fuel to keep sufficient strength in our bodies for traveling. It was so cold much of the time that the brandy was frozen solid, the petroleum was white and viscous, and the dogs could hardly be seen for the steam of their breath. The minor discomfort of building every night our narrow and uncomfortable snow houses and the cold bed platform of that igloo on which we must snatch such hours of rest as the exigencies of our desperate enterprise permitted us seem hardly worth mentioning in comparison with the difficulties of the main proposition itself.

TRAVELING WITH HEAVILY LOADED SLEDGES OVER THE MOUNTAINOUS AND RAGGED ICE.

Marching Through a Blizzard.

"At times we marched all day long, facing a blinding snowstorm, with the bitter wind searching every opening in our clothing. Those among my readers who have ever been obliged to walk for even an hour against a blizzard, with the temperature 10 degrees or 20 degrees above zero, probably have a keen memory of the experience. Probably they also remember the men into the icy water below they would not readily drown because of the buoyancy of the air inside their fur clothing. A man dropping into the water in this way could probably be extricated in time, but with the thermometer at 50 degrees below zero it would not be a pleasant possibility.

Must Sleep With Your Boots On.

"This is the reason why I have never used a sleeping bag when out on the polar ice. I prefer to have my legs and arms free and to be ready for any emergency at a moment's notice. Furthermore, I never go to sleep when out on the sea ice without my mittens on, and if I pull my arms inside my sleeves I pull my mittens in, too, so as to be ready for instant action. That is the place where a man must sleep with his boots on. What chance would a man in a sleeping bag have should he suddenly wake to find himself in the water?

"I am often asked if we were hungry on that journey. I hardly know whether we were hungry or not. Morning and night we had pemmican, biscuit and tea, and the pioneer party had tea and lunch in the middle of the day's march."

MEASURER OF MENTALITY.

New Machine, the Ergograph, Shows How Much Work a Man May Do. Dr. Edward Ledholtz, demonstrator in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, said the other day that a new machine is being used in the classroom there. It is called the ergograph, and by pressing your thumb on a spring the machine records on a piece of smoked paper your mental capability.

A man's capability for work can be computed approximately, said Dr. Ledholtz, and if the ergograph tests were complete and comprehensive enough there is little doubt that the psychologist could give a man an idea of the amount of work he could do without breaking down.

Paper Money to Be Smaller.

The desire of Secretary MacVeagh for a uniform style of paper money of a more convenient size will be realized. A. Platt Andrews, director of the mint, will soon take up the task of designing new treasury and bank notes. Mr. MacVeagh's idea is that the bills be reduced by one-fifth, so that in size they will be more like European bank notes.

A Stage Name.

There is a story, well known to theatrical folk, of how Ada Rehan, the actress, whose name was Ada Crehan, came to adopt the stage name of Rehan. Mr. Daly, tradition relates, was opposed to middle initials of his actors and actresses being printed in advertisements and programs. Just before Miss Rehan's appearance as a Daly recruit Mr. Daly was looking over some proofs of programs. His eye lit on "Ada C. Rehan," a compositor's error. He struck out the "C," and Rehan her name remained.

SACRIFICES FOR A WARSHIP.

Greeks Gave Jewelry, Clothing and Money at Nashua, N. H.

Eight hundred Greeks gathered in a theater at Nashua, N. H., the other night to hear the plan for building a battleship for Greece at the expense of the Greeks in the United States explained, and in their excitement and anxiety to aid in every way possible in the movement men and women in the audience removed their jewelry, hats, coats, vests and other personal belongings and put them on the stage.

Nearly $2,500 in money was raised, in addition to the clothing, valued at several hundred dollars. Many of the audience went home bareheaded and in their shirt sleeves, but all in a happy frame of mind.

HOW TO SAVE BAD BOYS.

Light on Care of Dependent Children in St. Louis Conference.

"Do not tell a child how bad you think him," said E. E. Gardner, superintendent of the Sockanosset School For Boys of Howard, R. I., in an address before the seventh annual session of the national conference on the education of backward, truant, delinquent and dependent children, which recently began its sessions in St. Louis. "Rather show him how useful he can become. Lead him to think that good is expected from every one and that he amounts to something." This was the keynote of this session.

The speaker defined a state industrial school as an institution provided and supported by the state for the care and instruction of delinquent children sent there by the authorities for cause and whose object it is to fit them as law abiding citizens, independent of the condition that was their undoing.

SHAFT NEWS FROM CROSBY

Work is Progressing Favorably on the New Shaft in Section 11-46-29

TWO BOILERS IN POSITION

Other News Items of the Hustling Growing Town on Serpent Lake

Crosby, Minn., May 25.—Work at the new shaft being put down by the New York Foundation Co., is progressing favorably. This is the shaft which is being put down for the Rogers-Brown Ore Co., in section 11-46-29. Two boilers have been placed in position. A clam shell steam shovel used for excavating has been set up. Two more boilers are to arrive and one of them is expected Thursday, May 26th. The large cement mixer which is to be operated by steam, has been placed in position.

Three hundred feet of narrow gauge track has been laid from a point where the shaft is to be located to the gravel pit. The gravel is hauled to the cement mixer, where the concrete is used in the construction of the cement shaft. Quarters have been erected for the men so the crews can be near their work. Several old miners from the Michigan ranges arrived yesterday and will be employed on the work at the shaft.

W. A. Guith has bought a touring car and after very little practice took his car from Brainerd to Crosby.

J. B. Galarneau, of Aitkin, state superintendent of banks, stated to the Dispatch representative that the State bank at Crosby would complete its organization within two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rutger were visitors last Sunday at the new Spaulding hotel. Mr. Rutger is the landlord of the hotel in Bay Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Taylor visited the Spaulding hotel last Sunday.

Ernest Roberts went to Duluth this morning.

Capt Vail has a new engineer in his passenger launch.

Gaylord & Guith have put in a new drill near Fort Ripley.

B. B. Gaylord has erected a garage near his residence.

Harry Levy and Sam Gittelsohn, of Duluth will spend Sunday and Decoration day with their friend, Ed. Syverson.

The Brainerd baseball team and friends registered as follows at the Spaulding hotel in Crosby last Sunday: W. Turcotte, B. Gilman, O. Thoe, R. Gustafson, E. Wise, R. Derocher, G. Witham, H. Paine, A. Drogseth, C. Betzold and P. Peterson.

Gust Nelson and Chris Severson were in Crosby last week.

Two automobile parties of Brainerd came to Crosby last week and numbered the following ladies and gentlemen: The Misses Signa Johnson, Alice Hallquist, Gertrude Hallquist and Eliza Armstrong and Dr. Nicholson, Dr. Hallquist, of Minneapolis, and Dr. Erickson.

Wm. Donaldson and Ben Vail were Duluth visitors at Crosby recently.

Ed. Syverson has about completed his building on Main street and expects to have it open for business on Decoration day. He will have a commodious billiard room, a soft drinks and ice cream parlor, lunch counter and cigar store. There will be a plate glass window front. The interior will be handsomely decorated and oak finished furniture will be installed. He will have his own lighting system. With the preparations he has made and the conveniences he has installed he will certainly do a good business.

Miss Bessie Hart, of Wayne, O., will spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. B. B. Gaylord.

The Spaulding hotel has installed a handsome, up-to-date, white enamel refrigerator, just received from St. Paul.

The Dispatch representative was given a pleasant automobile ride by B. B. Gaylord who whirled him from Deerwood to Crosby in his powerful Buick machine. The road is very pretty, revealing beautiful bits of scenery at every turn. The Buick car when driven by Mr. Gaylord negotiated the trip in fast time and the care which he displayed in avoiding bad ruts and corduroy roads showed him to be a most skillful driver.

Lion Fondles a Child.

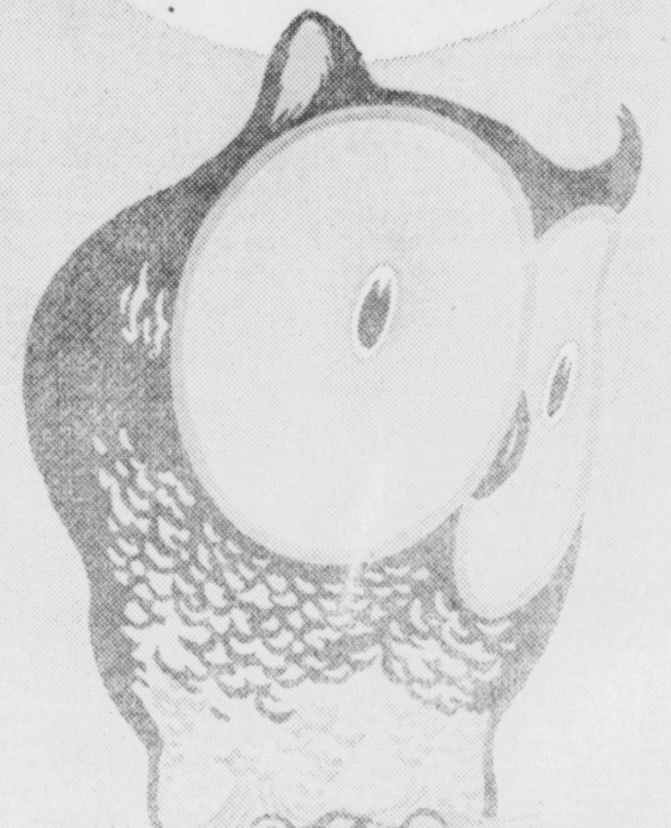

In Pittsburg a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through Colds, Croup, and Whooping Cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of Croup," writes Mrs. George B. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. Its a wonderful medicine for babies." Best for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhages, weak lungs. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. MEMORIAL DAY IN BRAINERD

Parade in the Afternoon Will be Followed by Appropriate Exercises and Speeches

R. C. DUNN PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Considerable More than Ordinary Interest is Being Taken in Arrangements for its Observance

On Monday next, May 30th, the memory of the Boys of '61 who lie sleeping in home and in foreign graves will be commemorated by a general observance of Memorial Day in this city and plans have already been perfected in which the patriotic citizens will participate and lend their aid to make it a success as far as possible. Union services will be held at the opera house on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, the programme of which has already been published in these columns.

On Monday morning the members of Pap Thomas Post, G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and Women's Relief corps, will proceed to Evergreen cemetery and there follow the ritual of the G. A. R. in decorating the graves of the dead heroes. There will be a firing squad from the local camp of the Sons of Veterans, and the flowers will be placed on the graves by the school children.

The old soldiers will be given a dinner after these exercises, which will be in charge of the Women's Relief Corps.

Previous to the exercises at the opera house a big parade of the children of the city schools and their teachers will take place. The column will be headed by the Brainerd City band, the chief of police and chief of the fire department, commander and aids. Capt. S. R. Adair will be marshal of the day.

They will form at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon in front of Elks' hall, Seventh street south, and go direct to the Washington building, where all the schools will be formed and in command of Supt. W. C. Cobb, who will immediately turn his command over to Col. J. C. Congdon and staff for the parade. The procession will not cross the railroad tracks as first planned, but will proceed at once to Elks hall and escort the Post members, who will be on foot, to the opera house.

The exercises at the opera house will open promptly at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Following is the program:

Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Plans Perfected to Make a Financial Canvass of the City and Open the Building June 1st

On Tuesday evening, May 24th, a supper was served at the Y. M. C. A. rooms by the Ladies of the Baptist church and the gentlemen thirty-three in number, who partook of this hospitality discussed the present and future standing of our local Y. M. C. A.

W. H. Day, international railway secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Chicago, spoke on the work in Brainerd and made suggestions regarding the Y. M. C. A. here.

A number of the gentlemen present made short addresses on the same lines and alluded to the prosperous future of the city. Those speaking were the new president, Edward Crust, Geo. D. LaBar, M. T. Dunn, Rev. J. R. Alten, Rev. W. J. Lowrie, Rev. Chas. Fox Davis, A. T. Larson, G. S. Swanson and the local secretary, Mr. Ludwig.

It was decided to follow up the supper with a financial canvass to raise funds to defray some of the present indebtedness of the association and the last two days of the canvass resulted so favorably that the members present decided to open up the association building on June 1st.

The building will be cleaned from top to bottom and put in as good a condition as possible. The repairs to be made will include plastering, papering, also repainting the bath room and in other ways making the building as attractive as possible. The association will open on an entirely new basis. The age of membership will be 18 years and over. For the present at least no boys under 18 will be admitted to membership except by special vote of the membership committee. This is done because it is impossible for one man to handle both the men and the boys departments.

It is hoped that the association will be in such condition by fall that another man may be employed who will take charge of the boy's part of the building.

ELECTS DELEGATES TO CROOKSTON

Crow Wing County Development Association Makes Arrangements to Send Delegation

NEXT MEETING IN BRAINERD

Enthusiastic Meeting Held—Crowd Will Leave in Special Car for Crookston June 1st

If any residents of Crow Wing County, or any other portion of the State of Minnesota, doubts that the people of this locality are in sympathy with the purposes of the Northern Minnesota Development Association, his opinion would certainly have been changed had he been in attendance at the meeting held yesterday by the local organization at the Commercial club rooms of Brainerd. Fully one hundred people were in attendance and most of them were from the rural districts from all parts of the county, present to give their approval and assistance in carrying to success the objects of the convention and which are so essential to every inhabitant of the northern part of our great state.

After the routine work of the local organization had been accomplished and President Allbright had explained the purposes of the Northern Development Association, and had announced the meeting to be held at Crookston on June 1, 2 and 3, the members enjoyed an interesting and enthusiastic address by the Hon. B. F. Wright, judge of the district court. The Judge is an ardent supporter of the matter in question, and pointed out the advantages to be accrued therefrom to the residents if they acted concertedly. Enthusiastic and concerted action was the key note of his address and he urged the people of Crow Wing county to attend the Crookston meeting in a large body. He stated that his home county of Hubbard had made elaborate plans to attend the Crookston meeting in chartered cars, and by unique methods of local subscription was in a position to take a band with them to boost their county. Every resident there keenly appreciates the responsibility that rests with him and is not failing to take advantage of every opportunity that will tend to benefit his community. Although the county of Hubbard has not developed its mineral resources like Crow Wing county has, its people nevertheless are very hopeful of the future in this respect and are already preparing to meet the demands to be made by the incoming inhabitants who would remove the untold riches hidden beneath the soil, and, in exchange, use the abundant and wholesome products raised above.

Hon. S. F. Alderman, senator from the 48th district, gave an exceedingly interesting talk on reapportionment, the real basis for the existence of the organization previously referred to. At the present time the apportionment for representation in the legislature is based on an assumed population, and it is this method which has led to that faulty representation which now exists. Districts which should be represented by probably three or four more men than they are now entitled to, are represented by less men than districts which are insignificantly smaller, and this representation is now and has always worked to the benefit of the over represented southern districts and to the detriment of the insufficiently represented districts of the northern part of the state. And to the latter class belongs our own county of Crow Wing. The suggestion was made that this evil might be remedied most speedily by the proper selection of delegates to the next state convention and who should be instructed to oppose all candidates for office, and all measures, unless it is arranged that the necessary pledges are obtained whereby a law will be enacted providing for an immediate re-apportionment of the state and thereby give the northern counties their just and proper representation. The census, which has just been completed, will no doubt emphasize the present condition of misrepresentation.

J. M. Elder spoke briefly on the desirability to promote legislation, which will bring about suitable drainage measures, and likewise, Carl Zapffe urged the same for the increased levy for the encouragement and construction of substantial roads.

Arrangements were reported to have been made whereby a sleeper had been chartered to carry the Crow Wing county delegation to Crookston, leaving Brainerd on Wednesday night June 1st and return Saturday morning the 4th. The expenses will range from $11.00 to $16.00 per man, not including meals, depending on the number taking advantage of this car. The car will travel up the M. & I. railway on a special train, connect at Bemidji with the Great Northern railway and be in Crookston the following morning. The car will remain on the track for sleeping purposes. About twenty five people have signified their intention of going but it is absolutely necessary that this number be greatly increased in order that the December meeting can be landed for Brainerd. Every one should realize that this meeting is not for political purposes of any one party but is for the interest of each and every individual. We are fighting today for the same principle that our ancestors fought for when seeking their independence from Great Britain in the days of the American Revolution. It is again a question of taxation without representation.

The delegates elected to represent Crow Wing county are the following: H. J. Hage, Iver Benson, Clifton Allbright, John Sandgren, Carl Zapffe, and the alternates are, J. M. Elder, A. M. Opsahl, Wesley Curo, Leslie Jack, J. H. Krekleberg. The president announced those appointed by the commercial club of Brainerd to act as delegates to be, R. R. Wase, W. H. Gemme, S. F. Alderman, C. D. Johnson, F. A. Farrar, Geo. Keene and A. G. Trommald. All of the above named delegates are under pledge to go and all are awaiting the time for departure. The citizens of Crow Wing county are all urgently requested to join the delegation because it requires the united efforts of all to bring the following meeting to Brainerd, a capital town for such a gathering.

The state fair committee appointed at the last meeting reported that a suitable and creditable exhibit could be made at the coming state fair, but that unless one thousand dollars were raised, it would hardly be advisable to proceed with the undertaking. A resolution was presented by the committee asking the Brainerd commercial club to endeavor raising this amount of money, and also reported that J. M. Elder had promised to subscribe the sum of one hundred dollars toward that amount.

Baker-LeMay

On Wednesday evening, May 25, 1910, at nine o'clock, Rev. James J. O'Mahoney performed the service at his residence which united in marriage Eber Clarence Baker and Miss Mary Louise LeMay.

The bride was attired in a dress of green shantung silk with satin and Persian trimmings and wore a hat to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Anna LeMay, a sister of the bride, wore a white serge suit. The best man was Earl Dennis, a nephew of the groom.

A splendid wedding supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Weitzel, 702 North Ninth street, the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present. The house was beautifully decorated, the dining room being trimmed with pink carnations and ferns, the library with ferns and snowballs, and the parlor having the same color scheme and decorations as the library. Many handsome and valuable presents were received by them.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. Joseph Weitzel and has always made her home with the family. The groom is employed at McGinn and Smith's, and has made his home in Brainerd for many years. The happy couple went to their own home on South Sixth street where they will go to housekeeping at once.

Decoration Day

Monday, May 30, we pay our mournful tribute to our Soldier Dead.

The day is generally conceded as the opening of the summer season. Summer wear will be much in evidence. We lay aside the stiff formality of the Easter season and don the soft home-spuns and serges that will characterize our dress during the balance of the season.

We have all the cool wearables appropriate to the season.

Serge suits, Crash and Home-Spun suits $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 to $27.50.

Negligee Shirts, Summer Underwear. Cool Hosiery, Seasonable Neckwear, Straw Hats, Shoes, Oxfords and all the other requisites of a breezy attire.

Many take advantage of this day to spend a few hours at the lakes. If you are one of these we will be glad to show you what we have in appropriate wearables

Shoe and Clothing House

Again Saturday and Tuesday

We offer Men's $15 Suits for $10

We established a new suit selling record last Friday and Saturday, and we're going to try Saturday and Tuesday to do even better. Not only did we establish a selling record, but we demonstrated conclusively that our advertising is genuine. Every Men's suit in the house that has sold all season for $15, will go Saturday and Tuesday for $10. Included in the line are blue and black serges, fancy worsteds and cassimeres, made from strictly all wool fabrics in the season's newest patterns. If you will but examine the all wool fabrics, the durable linings and trimmings, the high class workmanship and the conservative lines along which these garments are built, you cannot help admitting that they are a close imitation of custom tailoring, and built to give satisfaction in wear, as well as to fit perfectly—extraordinary values at $15.00, special Saturday and Tuesday at the extreme bargain price of.....

Ruskin and the Turners.

How closely famous pictures can be imitated by skillful artists was proved by an exhibition by Ruskin in 1875 of a series of facsimiles of Turner's pictures in the National gallery, London. The collection was accompanied by a characteristic note from Ruskin, in which he said, "I have given my best attention during upward of ten years to train a copyist to perfect fidelity in rendering the works of Turner and have now succeeded in enabling him to produce facsimiles so close as to look like replicas—facsimiles which I must sign with my own name to prevent their being sold for real Turners."

Kith and Kin.

"Very interesting conversation here?" asked papa, suddenly thrusting his head through the conservatory window, where Ethel, Mr. Tomkins and little Eva sat very quietly. "Yes, indeed," said Ethel, ready on the instant with a reply. "Mr. Tomkins and I were discussing our kith and kin, weren't we, Eva?" "Yeth, you wath," replied little Eva. "Mr. Tomkins said, 'May I have a kith?' and Ethel said, 'You kin.'"—London Tit-Bits.

Snakes.

The holes commonly seen in the fields are not "snake holes," though commonly called such. They are made by field mice, shrews and moles, often by the larger insects, and it is very seldom that snakes even take refuge in them. Few snakes actually dig holes. They burrow in soft ground, the subterranean species, but these live, as a rule, in soft, yielding soil.—St. Nicholas.

OPPOSITION TO GRONNA BILLPennsylvanians Object to the Measure.

NORTH DAKOTA DEFENDS IT

Congressman From the Northwest
Contents That There Should be Uniformity in Grading and Inspection of Wheat, and That the Grain Growers are Now Being Imposed Upon. Objections to the Measure.

Washington, May 21.—Eastern trade bodies, represented by the Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia, filed with the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce objections to the Gronna bill providing for a federal bureau for the inspection and grading of grain.

Representative Gronna defended his bill. He asked for additional hearings that the Equity society of North Dakota may be represented and present its arguments in favor of the bill. The hearings will be had, but it is not probable any action will be had on the bill at this session.

The bill sets up these objections to the bill: It provides for something that is unnecessary, the work now being performed by state inspectors and boards of trade. It authorizes a compensation for a bureau chief and chief inspector that would not compensate competent men. Grain experts require more than three years' experience in inspecting, grading and buying grain. Fees collected would be too small in the aggregate in many cases to pay salaries of competent inspectors and their deputies. Grain should be inspected when loaded or as loaded. There should be no authority in any one to waive inspection of any consignments of grain. Large dealers could evade the law by building or renting private warehouses or by storing grain in special bins in public warehouses. The fee charged would not be self sustaining. Too great discretion is lodged in the secretary of agriculture.

Gronna Defends the Bill.

Representative Gronna defended the bill, contending there should be uniformity in grading and inspection, and that the grain growers were now being imposed on. He charged that wheat purchased as No. 2 grade was often exported as No. 1 wheat, the farmer losing the difference in price between the grades.

H. D. Irwin of Philadelphia said this was possible because much good wheat came into the markets filled with dirt. It had to be run through the elevators and cleaned. The wheat purchased, because of the dirt, under the No. 2 grade became No. 1 wheat when cleaned. He gave statistics to show the cost of cleaning equalled if it did not exceed the difference in prices for the grades.

James L. King of Philadelphia urged that foreign buyers would be no more willing to accept overgraded grain with a government certificate than if it came only with the guaranty of a known board of trade inspection. He said that most of these boards had a fund to indemnify shippers for losses on improper inspection. He contended the federal bureau bill was defective in this respect. If it should attempt to insure against loss in this respect, he asked, what would be the government's limit of liability?

The Philadelphians insisted that the farmer was not imposed on, and that this country's system of inspection and grading gave satisfaction to buyers for foreign markets.
